INTRODUCTION

The Education Act 1996 sets out the law on charging for school activities in schools maintained by local authorities in England. All maintained schools must have a charging and remissions policy relating to all activities which the School offers, whether during the school day or outside.

The Governing Board recognizes the valuable contribution that these and any additional activities to the curriculum, which can include clubs, day trips and extended visits, can make towards pupils' personal and social education and its aims are to promote and provide these activities as part of the school's broad and balanced curriculum. Under the regulations, no school is able to make a charge for school activities which the school offers during the school day or outside if the activity is part of the national curriculum. However, this does not prohibit or restrict the school from seeking voluntary contributions from parents, nor does it put the school under any obligation to pursue a proposed activity if insufficient voluntary contributions are received.

CHARGING

GENERAL

The Governing Board may, from time to time, amend the categories of activity for which a charge is made and also the level of charges shown in this policy. Nothing in the policy statement precludes the Governing Board from inviting parents to make voluntary contributions towards the cost of providing additional education activities for pupils.

SCHOOL VISITS - DURING SCHOOL HOURS (NON RESIDENTIAL)

The Governing Board believes that school visits are a valuable part of the children's learning.

The school is not allowed to make a charge for these journeys but will seek voluntary contributions from parents in order to fund this activity. There is no obligation to contribute and no pupil will be omitted from the activity should his/her parents be unwilling or unable to do so. However, should funding for the trip be inadequate it will not take place.

SCHOOL VISITS - OUTSIDE SCHOOL HOURS (NON RESIDENTIAL)

The Governing Board believes that extended visits can provide valuable learning experiences for the children but are aware that Teachers cannot be required to undertake such a visit.

The school will make a charge for activities that take place outside school hours if it is not part of the national curriculum. There is no obligation to participate and should funding for the activity be inadequate it will not take place.

If the activity is part of the national curriculum the school is not allowed to make a charge for these national curriculum activities but will seek voluntary contributions from parents in order to fund the visit. There is no obligation to contribute and no pupil will be omitted from the activity should his/her parents be unwilling or unable to do so. However, should funding for the trip be inadequate it will not take place.

RESIDENTIAL VISITS

The Governing Board believes that residential activities can provide valuable learning experiences for the children but are aware that Teachers cannot be required to undertake such a visit.

The school will make a charge for the whole cost of residential activities that take place outside school hours, including the board and lodging element, if it is not part of the national curriculum. There is no obligation to participate and should funding for the activity be inadequate it will not take place.

Parents who are in receipt of the benefits listed in the remissions part of this policy will be exempt from the board and lodging element of the residential visit even if it is not part of the national curriculum.

If the residential is part of the national curriculum the school will only charge for the board and lodging element of the trip. The school is not allowed to make a charge for the other elements of the trip for national curriculum activities but will seek voluntary contributions from parents in order to fund the visit. There is no obligation to contribute and no pupil will be omitted from the activity should his/her parents be unwilling or unable to do so. However, should funding for the residential be inadequate it will not take place.

Parents who are in receipt of the benefits listed in the remissions part of this policy will be exempt from the board and lodging element of the national curriculum residential visit.

Authorisation of remission will be made by the Headteacher in consultation with the Chair of Governors.
